Some Sound-checkTV news for you. We wanted to do another episode last month but we couldn't get dates to align at the Rising Sun Arts Centre so we kind of missed it. That means we're going to squeeze two in before the end of the year! Saturday 21st November we're featuring Queen of Between and Famous Red Tights and then, on Saturday 12th December, we've got Baby Maker and Salvador Scott. The live audience is a vital part of the filming and that means you, so put the dates in your diary and come and join the fray.

Aside from that, it's November and, at Sound-check Towers, that means we're bang in the middle of the busiest gig time of the year – in between the weird bands-in-daylight festival bit, and the bit of the year when you contemplate eating your three days-worth of 'emergency supplies' in bed because it's cold and wet out, and you've got no money left.

Round here, it also means that some of the students that arrived last month have found their way around town to places other than just Friar St., which is always good.

One of them made it here, to Sound-check, you know. Yes, folks... we have a new writer!

Say hello to Eliana who's first mission was to provide you with a profile of another great autumn regular, Reading Rising: The fully-loaded two solid days of bands at the Face Bar, coming up on 7th and 8th.

That's up the back of this issue. Down the front, there's shallowdaze [lower case, no space, get it right!] and, in between, there's definitely at least gig you've been looking for. Whoever you are. ■

See you out there. Bring a coat. – RiCH

This, folks, is shallowdaze. Honey, James, Dave and Sam – all born and bred Reading, it turns out, specifically Tilehurst – and we've been caught out by the Biscuit Factory closing early on a Sunday so we're sat out the back of the Turtle, dodging the karaoke and failing as ever, to get a heated seat.

shallowdaze are one of those rare bands who I went to see the first time purely because I liked the name. It doesn't happen often, that, but I noticed it popping up about a year ago and kind of had a hunch I was going to like it.

This is almost, kind of a second chapter for these guys. There was once a band called Auto Reply with, amongst others, James, Dave and Honey in it which, according to Honey, "sort of lost momentum, I guess. So, we had a chat and we were like, 'We want to put everything fully into this'."

"Two of the other members couldn't commit fully and then Sam was, like "Hiii!".

Sam: "Well, it wasn't quite like that – he took me to the pub! The Cunning Man."

"I knew these two [James and Dave] from a mutual friend and we played briefly in a band back in 2016 and... you met Honey's Dad at the gym!"

James: "I recognised him from living on my estate when I was a kid, about 25 years later! He said he had a daughter who sings so I said 'Send her stuff over'. I heard it and thought, yeah, this is the sort of direction we want to go."

And that direction?

Well, if you think of that early eighties post-punk time... the time of the Bunnymen, and chorus pedals and affordable synths, and the poppier end of The Cure... all that, and add an effortless-but-not-miserable girl vocal to it, I think you'd be close. Sort of.

Words: RiCH Lucas

Some round here have apparently used the word shoegaze, which would be no bad thing, but they're just wrong.

James: "When I was growing up I used to listen to early 90s sort of sounds, The Stone Roses... Ride was a massive band... and I feel like the last few years I've gone even another decade back without really realising."

Honey did Performing Arts back at college and even ended up embroiled in the odd musical but "I was never a 'musical theatre kid', I used to do them because loved singing. In my class, there only ten of us. They were all obsessed with musicals and I didn't know any of them – I just really enjoyed the singing part of the course more than the acting part. And, of course, writing."

When it comes to the song writing, lyrics and top line melody are Honey's department.

"I'm definitely more of a writer than a vocalist. Like, now... [ie. sitting, talking to Sound-check], I find it hard to articulate what I'm trying to say. I have to think a lot. It helps writing it and singing it is even better."

Live-wise shallowdaze have just done their last scheduled gig for the year, at possibly favourite venue The Library in Oxford, before taking some time out to get on with recording an e.p. due out early in the new year.

Recording is a totally DIY affair. Drummer, Sam is a bit of a techie, learning the dark art of production. The whole recording operation is done DI, straight into the computer at his house, apart from the vocals – which are done in the top bedroom, round his Nan's!

Even shallowdaze rehearsals are done electronically these days through amp simulators, headphones and an electronic kit provided by Sam's brother with the money from selling his car.

If any of you reading this happen to have access to an unused industrial unit somewhere close, pay attention to this bit...

Sam: "We have done proper studio rehearsal but we found earlier this year that you just can't get anywhere. What there is, is just fully-booked, aaall the time."

Yes. In case you hadn't heard, Reading desperately needs another rehearsal room.

Well, we can't all just pile round to Sam's Nan's house, can we?

Look out for that E.P. in the new year. ■

Mazzy Star
So Tonight That I Might See Seasons Of Your Day
Among My Swan She Hangs Brightly
Formed around the partnership of singer Hope Sandoval and guitarist David Roback. The latter was a veteran of the Californian post punk 1960s revival dubbed 'the Paisley underground' with groups The Rain Parade and Opal. The latter especially remaing cult favourites. With Sandoval they hit a perfect seam of horizontal American dreampop. Fade Into You from their classic 1993 LP (So Tonight That I Might See), was the languid lovelorn hit and endures to be discovered by subsequent generations of lotus eaters. We have all four albums on vinyl.

Vintage annuals!

We recieved a lovely donation of vintage annuals. Everyone remembers the buzz of an annual on Christmas morning. What about a classic as a gift this year! My favourite is the Look-in from 1979. Amongst the attractions are Sapphire & Steel, Battlestar Galactica, a great Space 1999 comic story and a dull article about tennis. Best of all is pin-ups of Debbie Harry and Richard O'Sullivan as Dick Turpin in a very gregarious pose.

Monday-Saturday: 10am-6pm • Sunday: 12-4pm
Donations of all records, CDs, instruments, Hi-Fi and other musical items, as well as films and comics/graphic novels, always gratefully received.

It's Reading Rising this month so we sent new writer, Eliana Servadei, to get the lowdown on this annual two-day showcase which just seems to get bigger and better each year.

I had the pleasure of sitting down with Sarah to talk about the upcoming Reading Rising on the 7-8th November. As one of the organisers of the event, alongside local band InAir, she immediately jokes "that this event is a bit of a love-letter to Facebar".

And she's not wrong. Reading Rising has been held there from the very beginning, all the way back in 2018.

The two day festival was born out of InAir's desire to "bring touring bands back to Reading … and to showcase the local music scene and …bring bands seen elsewhere to town", which has grown each year.

2026 marks a particularly big milestone for the event with the Saturday headliners InMe, who have been a dream headline for the Reading Rising crew from the very start. Their fellow headliners on the Sunday are Lastelle, a particular favourite of Sarah's, who are returning to Reading Rising after playing their second ever gig(!!!) there in 2018.

Main photo:
As Everything Unfolds XLDH Photography

Insets:

Press To MECO Reading Rising

Joining Lastelle on Sunday are High Regard and Asleep At the Helm for a more eclectic day of music, while Saturday is sure to be a blast for metal lovers, with Employed to Serve and returning local legends Terakai forming part of the twelve act lineup on the day.

The Reading Rising crew understand that "nobody wants a gig where it's all the same genre so [they] very carefully curate the lineups" and are open to public requests, which has brought the band Kite Thief to perform at the festival.

If any bands are interested in playing at Reading Rising, go and have a chat with Sarah or any of the organisers on the days of the event, or drop them an email at readingrising@gmail.com starting from January 2027.

Tickets for Saturday are £31 and doors open at 2pm, with the headliners finishing at 11pm. Meanwhile the Sunday tickets are £28, where doors open at 3pm and the headliners finish at 10pm. For the full weekend, tickets are £45.

The event is sure to be good fun, as Sarah fondly recalls crowdsurfing for the first time back in 2019 when TheCityIsOurs headlined – if you feel like giving crowdsurfing a go, Reading Rising might be the place to start! ■

GO ON... GIVE ME YOUR BEST SHOT!

You'll have noticed we bloody love a gig photo, round here. Instagram just doesn't do a good photo justice. If you've got local act photos and you'd like to see them here, you can just email them to rich@sound-check.co.uk with band name, date, venue and photographer credit. If it's high enough resolution for real life print, and if there's space, we'll bang it in.

To advertise in Sound-check, email rich@sound-check.co.uk. Prices and ad specs are all at sound-check.co.uk. We keep it as cheap as we can to just cover the cost of keeping this thing alive but this very much a 'use it or lose it' affair. Buying an ad is, allegedly, really good for you.

Reasonable efforts are made to ensure that all info in Sound-check is correct at time of going to press. If you're worried, though, please check with the relevant venue.
